

LIBRARY REOPENING – LIMITED HOURS AND SERVICES

The Thomas St. Angelo Public Library of Cumberland will reopen for patron visits beginning Monday, July 6. The re-opening plan calls for limited hours and restriction on the number of visitors.

“We’re elated to welcome the public back into the library, but the top priority is the safety of patrons and staff. We are taking a conservative approach. We appreciate everyone’s patience as we slowly move toward normal service,” stated Director Rob Ankarlo.

Hours will be 10:30 am to 5:30 pm Monday, Wednesday and Friday; 11:30 am to 6:30 pm on Tuesday and Thursday, and 10:00 am to 12:30 pm on Saturday. The library will allow a maximum of 25 patrons in the building at one time and patrons are requested to spend 30 minutes or less in the building. Contactless curbside service will continue for patrons who wish to limit their exposure to others.

- There will be limited computers available for 60-minute appointments. Facemasks are mandatory while using public computers. Staff can only provide limited technical assistance.
- Restrooms will be closed to the public. The library does not have the resources to establish a continual cleaning schedule for restrooms.
- The conference room is unavailable due quarantined materials.
- There will be no storytime or other programs in the building until further notice.
- All toys, games, crafts and computers in the children’s area are stored.
- Social distancing guidelines should be followed, and visitors are strongly encouraged to wear masks.
- Virtual programming continues for patrons of all ages.

For updates, check out the library’s website, Facebook page, read the e-newsletter and postings in the Cumberland Advocate, or phone the library (715.822.2767).